ABIGGER ABOSS

We didn't go out and buy a brand name.
We built our own.

Founded by carpenters working the frozen tundra of Duluth, MN, the legend began in 1987 when master carpenter/monster guitarist "Diamond Dave" strapped a canvas apron on a 5 gallon bucket and called it a "Bucket Boss". From there, Bucket Boss went on to create the category of soft-sided storage, fueled by The Bucketeer, The Gatemouth, & The Parachute Bag.

More Boss ...

The need for storage and organization is bigger than ever. The original Bucket Boss brand captured this demand for tools, and led to phenomenal category growth. Now we are expanding to organize popular lifestyle demands.

Introducing Auto Boss, a 10 sku line geared mostly at organizing the inside of your car, with a couple of prime Bucket Boss-style sku's for core auto needs like washing your car or storing your wrenches. The signature item is the Wash Boss, an organizer that fits on any 5 gallon bucket. The Wrench Boss holds two 14-piece wrench sets on a 5 gallon bucket, and keeps wrenches at the ready. The Mobile Office keeps business people on the go. See more Auto Boss starting on page 36.

People need organization in the garden, too. Introducing the Garden Boss, a universal bucket tool organizer for garden tools and supplies. Gardening is already one of America's favorite recreational activities, and as baby boomers hit retirement, its going to continue growing even bigger. The Garden Boss is a permanent home for your garden tools and supplies, and can easily follow you around the garden for great convenience. No more looking for where you left that trowel. See more Garden Boss on page 47.

HERITAGE

Our civilization is defined by what we build.
We consider it a privilege to be a part of that tradition.
Honoring that tradition means building exceptional products worthy of Terry and the crew.

Nothing else will do.

"Our Monsterback."

*Anne Henry, expert skier,
the Queen of Squaw Valley.

INNOVATION

Make it better. Period.

All of our products are the voices of tradesmen translated into tangible products. We march ahead, creating new categories for growth, while others copy. We built our own dedicated product design team, and a shop to go with it. We built our own product testing network, the American Tradesman Field Testers. Typically, we have about 100 products in the field at any given time, feedback and photographs constantly updated and analyzed. We're in the game, we're on the job. This focus on real-time development and testing has yielded an unparalleled string of successes.

Our mission, simply stated, is to drive market growth through innovation.

B.T.O.

Bucket Tool Organizers (BTO)

You don't become a market leader by sending off your competition's product to your offshore source for some copycat sample.

You innovate.

The original Bucket Boss was just that, original. It was a new kind of tool organizer, and it expanded the category. BTOs hold more than tool boxes, and they keep tools organized and at the ready while doing it.

The Bucketeer

Item #10030

- Made of poly ripstop/600D poly material
- 30 total pockets
- Fits most 5 gallon buckets
- 3 interior loops for hammers, drills, pry bars and long tools.

"Endorsements? GET REAL"

Milt Huff laughs out loud at those "TV contractors". He knows some celebrity endorsement won't make a difference when it comes to getting the job done right. Quality and craftsmanship make the difference.

GATEMOUTH BAGS

Lets cut to the chase. Soft-sided tool bags work better than plastic boxes ever could. Tough. Lightweight. Easy to carry. Easy to mash into the cab of a pickup truck. It took over 60 years for someone to figure out that a mason bag just didn't get the job done. That someone was us. These aren't some retrofit gym bags either. These are designed to hold tools, not sweat socks. Though they certainly do make a great gym bag...or storage bag...or jumper cable bag...or parts bag...or...

EXTREME BAGS

Extreme. Three bags, all with special features that let them stand apart. The new All-Weather Duffel is unique, made of a tarpaulin material you would see at baseball games during a rain delay. A waterproof zipper, too. Keeps gear dry, and an iPad protected under the flap. And check out the bottom reinforcement on the extreme bags, designed to last.

"I KNOW WHAT I WANT."

Scotty 'Ballgame' Swidler is ready for anything. He carries the All-Weather Duffel to keep his gear high and dry. He watches live feeds of the Sox games on his iPad, so the iPad pocket keeps him connected, too. He says that's all he needs.

BUCKET BOSS BALLISTIC

Certified Ballistic Nylon

Good is good. Great is great. And then there's ballistic. Ballistic is the best. Lets face it, polyester is a great product, providing solid value. But the real pro, the full-on, five-day-a-week pounder, needs the best. Ballistic nylon opens a can of whoop-ass on any other rig. This is the baddest cat in the joint. Licensed, certified, double-interwoven, nylon... the real mccooy. In the lab, this baby about doubles the abrasion, tensile and tear results of any fabric out there.

BUCKET BOSS BUSINESS

Contractors build things for a living, and one of them is their business. The kind of guys that create buildings. . . do you think these guys would buy cheap clone briefcases at an office supply store? Do you want to send them there? Heck no. They want it unique, and they want it to look a certain way, like their gear. Introducing Bucket Boss Business. If builders designed business cases, this is what they would look like. Don't be surprised when you go to remodel your house, and your contractor whips out his iPad to show you his work.

"If anyone scratches these floors, it won't be me."

Bob Anderson works fast. Work on your knees all day laying tile, and you would, too. Bob loves the look of travertine after he's done with it. He also loves the GelDome padding in his kneepads that protect him, and his paycheck, by keeping him on the job.

GELDOME KNEEPADS

A SLEEPER.

That's what kneepads are. They seem like an accessory on your wall, until your computer tells you they make up about 25% of your work gear sales on that wall. And if they don't. . . oh boy. Lets break it down. There are some specialty kneepads that are worth carrying, but the kneepad world boils down to just two kinds of kneepads - those that swivel and slide, and those that don't. The ones that do are for protection, and sliding, and for a few yahoo's that skate. The ones that don't are non-marring, and a mainstay in the flooring trades. And there are two quality levels, gel and foam. Gel lasts a lot longer, and costs a lot more to make.

"Finally a kneepad that I forget I am wearing."

Terry Bradshaw (ask him if he played for the Steelers... he loves that question) has been working on his knees for over 20 years, but refused to wear kneepads. No, he wasn't being tough, he just thought they were too bulky, and required constant nagging adjustment. Then he tried our NeoFlex ...and now he wears kneepads.

NEO FLEX KNEEPADS

Rubber kneepads were born in the 50's. The foam kneepads prevalent today came from the 80's, and straight from skaters. What's new? NeoFlex, from Bucket Boss®. Not lighter, though it certainly feels that way. More flexible. Ever work on your knees? Those in the floor trades tell us you are crawling around like Spiderman most of the time. So the kneepads should flex with you. Traditional foam kneepads don't, they are basically a rigid foam sandwich. NeoFlex starts with a flexible neoprene wrap, and adds just enough padding to absorb the load where it counts.

"They JUST work."

Juan "Gone" Gomez lays 'crete. At the end of the day, a good hose cleans off his kneepads, and he's ready to go again.

The need for storage and organization is bigger than ever.

We get it. The original Bucket Boss® brand captured this demand for tools, and led to phenomenal category growth fueled by the Bucket Tool Organizer and Gatemouth Bag. Now we are expanding to organize popular lifestyle demands.

Introducing Auto Boss,

a 10 sku line geared mostly at organizing the inside of your car, with a couple of prime Bucket Boss®-style sku's for core auto needs like washing your car or storing your wrenches. The signature item is the Wash Boss, an organizer that fits on any 5 gallon bucket. The outside pockets hold cleaning supplies like sponges, towels, brushes and bottles, leaving the inside open to fill with soap and water for an active wash, or just store more supplies. A second bucket organizer, the Wrench Boss, is a new twist on organizing wrenches. Pockets are configured to store wrench sets up to 14 pieces, from 1/4" to 1", both SAE and metric, up to 28 total wrenches! Not only are the wrenches organized, they are now at the ready. The Mobile Office is an efficient solution for people to work out of their car. Fits easily in the passenger seat, with pockets to hold a laptop, files, business supplies and even a large mocha.

Time to get digging.

The original Bucket Boss brand captured this demand for tools, and led to phenomenal category growth fueled by the Bucket Tool Organizer and Gatemouth Bag. People need organization in the garden, too. Introducing the Garden Boss, a universal bucket tool organizer for garden tools and supplies. Gardening is bigger than ever, and as baby boomers hit retirement, its going to continue growing even more. It has become one of America's favorite recreational activities, with a wealthy market of consumers ready to harvest Garden Boss off of your shelves. The Garden Boss is a permanent home for your garden tools and supplies, and can easily follow you around the garden for great convenience. No more looking for where you left that trowel. Our Big Kneeler is the perfect compliment to the Garden Boss organizer. Its big enough – 21" x 14" – and easily moved around in the garden to add a great level of comfort and protect those knees.
